2. falloir (il faut ...)
3. impersonal expressions with 'être'
4. other common impersonal expressions

The impersonal pronoun il ('it') is used in French when an action has no agent, that is, when there is no person or animate being responsible for the action. The conjugated verb is always in the third person singular, no matter what tense the impersonal verb takes.

 Tex: Tiens, il pleut très fort! Tex: Wow, it is raining really hard!

The action of the verb (pleut, 'is raining') is an impersonal, natural force. The impersonal pronoun il is often referred to as a 'dummy subject' because it fills the syntactic position of subject but doesn't have any real meaning.

weather expressions

Weather expressions in both French and English require impersonal subjects. The infinitive of 'weather verbs' can only be conjugated in the third person singular form (the il form).

 pleuvoir, to rain	Il pleut.	It's raining.
neiger, to snow	Il neige.	It's snowing.
grêler, to sleet	Il grêle.	It's sleetting.
geler, to freeze	Il gèle.	It's freezing.
bruiner, to drizzle	Il bruine.	It's drizzling.

Weather conditions are also expressed in French using the verb faire followed by an adjective or noun. Of course, when the verb faire is used impersonally in such weather expressions, it can only be conjugated in the third person singular form (il fait). See faire expressions for a more complete list of weather expressions.

 Il fait chaud.	It's hot.
Il fait du vent.	It's windy.
Il fait beau.	It's beautiful.

falloir (il faut ...) 'to be necessary'

The verb falloir only exists in the impersonal form (il faut). It always expresses the notion of necessity or obligation which is translated into English in various ways ('must,' 'should,' 'have to'). Falloir may be followed by an infinitive as in (d), by a noun as in (c), or by a subordinate clause introduced by que as in (a); note that the verb in the subordinate clause in (a) requires the subjunctive mood. Finally, it may be preceded by a pronoun acting as an indirect object as in (b), a way to avoid the subjunctive.

 Comme la majorité des Français, Tex ne voit pas l'intérêt du scandale Lewinsky.	Like the majority of the French, Tex does not see the point of the Lewinsky scandal.
Tammy (scandalisée):	Tammy (shocked):
(a) Il faut que nous sachions la vérité.	[faut que + clause]
	It is necessary that we know the truth. We should/must know the truth.

(b) Il nous faut des preuves.	[indirect object + faut]	We need evidence.
(c) Il faut une enquête.  Tex: Mais tu sais bien ce qui s'est passé!	[faut + noun]	An investigation is necessary.  Tex: But you know what happened!
(d) Il faut te calmer.	[faut + infinitive]	It is necessary that you calm down. You have to calm down.

impersonal expressions with 'être' + [adjective]

The impersonal subject il may appear with the verb être followed by an adjective and an infinitive. Note that the infinitive is always introduced by the preposition de in such impersonal expressions:

Il est + [adjective] + de + [infinitive]

🔊 Tex: Il est amusant de lire les journaux américains!

Tex: It's fun to read American newspapers!

Tammy: Il est difficile de comprendre ton humour.

Tammy: It is difficult to understand your sense of humor.

Listen to the dialogue:
